The New Haven Port Authority (NHPA) is accepting resumes for the part-time position of Executive Director (Director). The Director reports directly to the NHPA Commission (the Commission). The NHPA is an independent quasi-public agency created by City Ordinance and working under state-enabling legislation. Although the NHPA is a separate entity from the City of New Haven and State of Connecticut, the three entities often work collaboratively on economic development, security, environmental and transportation projects. The Port district consists of 366 acres located on the East Side of New Haven Harbor, 12 acres of which is owned by the NHPA.

The Director is appointed by, and serves at the discretion of, the NHPA Commission, and will manage and oversee all functions of the NHPA, including finance, marketing, business development, operations, personnel, asset acquisition, asset management, security, contract negotiations and management, and public relations. He or she will assist the Commission with establishing and implementing short-and long-term goals and objectives.

The Director is responsible for initiating and supporting policy initiatives on behalf of the NHPA that will further the development and security of the multi-modal movement of freight at the port of New Haven. The Director works closely with terminal owners, operators and related businesses with facilities in the port district or that provide services in support of port-related activities to advance the efficient and safe movement of freight transiting the port district.

The 2019 US Army Corps of Engineers ranking of the top 150 US ports by cargo tonnage ranked New Haven at fifty-two. So while the port of New Haven already enjoys vibrant economic activity, it is poised to realize increased activity with the proposed deepening of its Federal Navigation Channel and the expansion of its multi-modal infrastructure.
